The Programme of the League. DUBLIN, Feb. 10 .- The arrest of Michael Davitt is of course the topic of the hour. All day long on Friday his name was on every one's lips. Even the Parliamentary news, startling cowardly vindictiveness which characterized this last exploit of the Irish Executive, are the theme of all tongues. I chanced to pass through Backville street on Friday. There was no business doing, as usual, and as it chanced for a miracle not to be raining, the masters of all the shops and their assistants were standing out on the sidewalks, their feet in the mud and their heads in the sir, all talking politics. Various opinions floated on the sir. "The consummate impudence of that Parnelli" was to be heard coming from the portals of a fashionable tailor's shop. "Wasn't Parnell grand last night, more power to him! standing up to Gladstone!"
"Wait till you hear John Dillon to-night! Wait

Everywhere, from all classes of the community, nothing was talked of but this extraordinary proceeding. Davitt had done nothing to warrant it. Mr. Forster said three weeks ago, in reply to a question in the House, that he knew of no reason why Michael Davitt's ticket of leave should be revoked. Since then there has certainly been no cause given; and when Parnell asked the reason of the arrest in the House, Sir William Harcourt's silence was expressive enough. One thing is certain, and it is this: If anything was needed to confirm waverers, to prove to the people of Ireland that now or never they must close up their ranks and present an unbroken and unfaltering front to the enemy it was this action of Mr. Forster's. He and the Lord Lieutenant concocted the precious idea between them; and, as John Dillon truly said. the cheers with which the British Parliament greeted the announcement of the feat are an verlasting disgrace to the name of England. One poor, sickly, crippled man has been able to accomplish a revolution such as the English nation, until now, has never undergone. Thursday, the 3d of February, will be to England what the 18th Brumaire was to France, the inauguration of a new epoch, and Davitt's arrest is a crime which the British Parliament will expiate yet in a way they have little idea of.

As for the conduct of the Government and their motley supporters on Thursday night, it was contemptible from every point of view. Mr. Brand, the Speaker, is a very old man. Feeble in mind and body, his conduct presented a marked contrast to that of Lyon Playfair, a hard-headed Scotch protessor who was canny enough to keep within the letter of the law. which is assuredly all that the Irish members want from the Speaker. Mr. Brand simply made an exhibition of temper which was dis-graceful to him as an official and as a gentleman, as well as by his arbitrary and utterly illegal proceedings landing the House of Commons in a predicament which will be fruitful of evil to come.

Of late years a very dangerous belief has grown up in Parliament and out of it of regarding and treating the Ministry, the paid servants of the public—of the Crown if you will—as if they were entitled to special consideration and henor. Probably the withdrawal of the Queen from public life and the personal character of the Prince of Wales are at the bottom of this. From Gladstone down to the Foreign Office clerks and Queen's measengers these men are the paid servants of the executive, and through them of the constituencies, and they are not entitled to an atom of consideration in preference to any ordinary member of Parliament. Last session Mr. Gladstone moved that Mr. Bradlaugh be no more heard, the very thing that Parnell did to him on Thursday. Mr. Parnell was legally within his right on that occasion, as indeed, were all the Irish members. The Whigs showed last night that they were ashamed of themselves. Mr. Forster's tone was studiously apployedic. The speeches of the opposition also mark that a reaction has set in.

The meeting which was held at Lord Beaconsfield's private house, in Curzon street, has had a certain effect upon the Whigs. They begin to feel that they have gone too far for their constituencies, and it is by no means unlikely that the conlitten will come to a sudden end one of these flue days, and that the Gladstonian apple cart will be upset. But for the coalition, which was as unexpected as it was necessary, there must have been a dissolution. The Whigs could not have carried on the Government of the country. Now we see the traditions of the country and disgraceful exhibition, such as has never before been witnessed, made of a Legislature which was considered to be a shining light to all the world. The Tories are beginning to think that they would have done better. This much is to be said—they had the chance, and they did not areas Davitt. It must be allowed that the Tory Government, with all the him behavior and the considered to be a solider. grown up in Parliament and out of it of regarding and treating the Ministry, the paid servants

TO SAVE BROOKLYN.

Frenchers who Think that City Needs a Shak-ing Up in Religious Matters. About seventy ministers of Brooklyn held a conference yesterday afternoon in the chapel of the First Reformed Church in Joralemon street, to consider the lack of interest and seal in the churches of that city. Nearly all of the as it was, faded into insignificance. The arrest preachers whose churches have overflowing and the manner of it, the utter meanness, the audiences were absent. Most of those who came did not seem to be in good health. Many ate troches, and kept their coat collars turned > some, dyspepsia others, and several, when asked how they felt, complained of a "Blue-Mondayish feeling." Some of the brethren who are lamenting the lack of grace in the church passed each other without speaking. These were Presbyters, divided about the Talmage case.

> The meeting was opened by the Rev. E. P.

vided about the Taimage case.

The meeting was opened by the Rev. E. P.
Thwing, who presided, and speeches and prayers were made upon the theme of the decadence of religious spirit in the community, and the need of a revival among the ministers.

Dr. Spear told of a ninety days' revival that he started in his church during a dark period by simply conferring with two of his elders, one Friday night, calling a prayer meeting for the next evening, and starting around the next day to tell all of his members to come. The day which had been as dark as midnight became glorious with heavenly light.

"Don't be discouraged, brethren," said he, "the darkest hour is just before the dawn."

The Rev. William McRay wanted some preacher who had the consclousness of walking with Christ, in an out of season, to tell his experience. No one responded to the invitation, He was reminded, he said, of a traveller—a with of a wife who thought that he protested too much affection for her. He told her to be sure and pack the album containing her picture in his trunk, so that when far away from home he could look at the dear face which was more to him than all the world. The mischievous minx, Mr. McKay said, slipped her picture from the album and put it away, while she packed the album and put it away, while she packed the album and put it away, while she packed the album and put it away, while she packed the album and put it away, while she packed the album and put it away, while she packed the album and put it away, while she packed the album and put it away, while she packed the album and put it away, while she packed the album and put it away, while she packed the album and put it away, while she packed the album and put it away, while she packed the album and put it away, while she packed the album and put it away, while she packed the album and put it away, while she packed the album and put it away, while she packed the album and put it away, while she packed the album and put it away, while she packed the album and put it away, wh took it out every day, and was so happy in look-

Oh. he said, it did me so much good. I took it out every day, and was so happy in looking at it."

Then she caught him.

"The rascal," said Mr. McKey, "hadn't looked at the picture once." [Laughter.]

Mr. McKay thought that many might have the cover, but few siw the picture.

The Rev. Dr. Cuyler did not seem pleased with the story, and he covered his face with his hands wile his brethren laughed.

The Rev. Geo. F. Pentecost, a tall, heavy man, with dark, full beard, shelving eyebrows, deepsot black eyes, and a deep, sonorous voice, urged the brethren to lay hold of what faith they had, work with all their might, and thus learn the divine arithmetic of multiplication by division. Carlyle, when asked by Dean Stanley what he would advise the canon of a cathedral to do in a troubled period, advised him to do with all his might whatever his hand found to do. The ministers of Brooklyn should take the advice.

Mr. Pentecost, who was one of the committee

do. The ministers of Brooklyn should take the advice.

Mr. Pentecost, who was one of the committee appointed a week ago to take the subject of a revival into consideration, reported that the committee had decided to report in favor of a day of fasting and prayer for the confession of sins and repentance.

The meeting resolved to request the churches to unite in fasting and prayer upon some Friday, the date to be chosen by a committee comprising the Rev. Messrs. Edward Beecher, Pentecost, Cuyler, Storrs, Lawson, Roberts, and Chadwick.

MR. HAVEMEYER'S SLANDER SUIT. Judge Preedman's Opinion Accompanying the

Dismissal of the Complaint. Judge Freedman, in the Superior Court, resterday dismissed the complaint in the suit of Theodore A. Havemeyer agt. Lawson N. Fuller for $100,000 damages for alleged slander. The plaintiff charged that Mr. Fuller, at a pub ic meeting in Chickering Hall, on Jan. 6, 1879. ittered the slanderous words against him That he adulterated sugar, that he cheated ing the Government, swore he did not do so."

The motion to dismiss was made upon th grounds that the words not being actionable

SHOR TRIMMERS ON A STRIKE.

They Refuse to Work for the Messrs, Cousta at Lower Wages than Paid Elsewhere. The trimmers employed by J. & T. Cousins boot and shoe manufacturers, at 199 to 201 Grand street, are out on strike. The Cousinses' manufactory is the largest in the city. The firm came from Norwalk, where they had a large manufactory, and established their present manufactory in January last. They fixed the rate of wages at the figures they paid in Norwalk, which are lower than union rates here. The men have repeatedly petitionpaid in Norwalk, which are lower than union rates here. The men have repeatedly petitioned their employers to advance their wages to the regular price, but in every instance have been mot with refusal. At last the Shoe Trimmers' Protective Union took the matter in hand, and, at a meeting on last Friday night, instructed the trimmers employed in the Cousinase' manufactory to demand the Union rates. The demand was made on last Saurday afternoon, but was promptly refused. The committee then informed the Mesers. Cousins that the trimmers would go on atrike.

The strikers were assembled at 130 Chatham street yesterday. They say that the union rates are from five to six cents per pair, and that every other shoe in the city is paying these rates. They contend that it is unjust in the Mesers. Cousins to attempt to establish the Norwalk rates in this city, because it costs more to live and maintain a family in this city than in Norwalk. The union rates, they say, are low enough, were established long ago, and are approved of by every other manufactory in the city. They say that the Trimmers' Union is thoroughly organized throughout the United States, that no member would dare to take work in a shop below the established rates, and that they are fully capable of taking care of each other when on strike. Besides, they urge that they have the moral support of all the other shoe manufacturers of the city, for if the Mesers. Cousins are permitted to employ skilled labor at the Norwalk rates, they may then undersell the rest of the New York trade.

The lasters, heelers, burnishers, and finishers in the same shop are paid the Norwalk rates, and there is much disaffection among them.

The members of the firm say that they cannot afford to pay higher rates, and will endeavor to fill the places of the strikers with new hands. up. Bronchial difficulties seemed to sadden

FINING A SPECULATOR.

he was a Member of the Stock Board. Policeman O'Neil of Staten Island and Policeman Cotter, detailed to the Staten Island ferry, took to the Tombs yesterday a young man who wore a huge ulster, an immense hat, and cavalry boots that reached ulater, an immense hat, and cavairy boots that reached to his hips. He wore kid gloves and lewelry. When he was arraigned, he said: "Well, aw, this is very funny." Policeman O'kell told Justice Morgan that the prisoner acted so strangely on the Sitate I sland (erryboat that he was ordered to arrest him. He resisted, and on arriving in this city he again attacked O Neil, and it was necessary to call Policeman Cutter.
"What is your name!" asked Justice Morgan.
"My name! Why, it is Charles Hutchinson."
"What do you do for a living."
"Why, I'm a speculator," answered the accused man, laughing.

aughing.

"A speculator in what?"

"M speculator in what?"

"W hy, in stocks, of course. I'm a member of the Stock board. What right have they to arrest air?"

"Ten dollars it," and the prisoner.

"I won't par it," and the prison for ten days."

"I won't par it," and the prison for ten days."

"I'm broken have to go to prison for ten days."

"I'm broken who had driven up to the Tombs paid the fine, and marched the prisoner out between them, while he loudly declaimed against the injustice of justice.

QUICK WORK WITH VENDERS. escy Street Cleared of the Sidewalk Squa ters in an Hour.

During the holidays a number of street vendrs obtained permission to occupy one third of the side-walks around Washington Market. They offered at low rices every sort of goods from fine-tooth combs to litches of bacon. After the holidays they remained and became so great a nuisance that Mr. John W. Kettleman the Clerk of Washington Market, determined to drive hera maya. On Monday a week also he gave the verifi-ers motec. There were about one hundred sale fifty of them, and suring the week they moved any one by the washington wenders paid no attention to the washington. one. Fifty continuations venders paid to attention to the warring.

At I o'clock yesterday afternoon Mr. Ketteman, aided to four able-bodied palicomen and four rarta, sallied out, lie confined himself to Yosey after, from Yest to Church treet. Within ambour only was stands remained, and these Mr. Kettleman had cast ed off to the corporation yard in Gansevoort street Within a few days he intends to raid the other streets where venders have squatted, unless they move away beforehand.

David Jones's Ward and Estate.

The indictment of Osear Roelker, for assault with intent to kill Miss Fannie S. Green, was quashed in the Court of Sessions at White Plains yesterday, on the grounds that there was not sufficient evidence to sustain it, and that it had not been prosecuted with sufficient diligence. The only testimony to support it was that of Miss Green, who charged that the defendant sanulted her at the request of David Jones, the lately decased in Jac. K. Frothingham of Brooklyn and John W. Boothly of New Rochelle were yesterday appointed apprairers of the David Jones estate.

Detected in Swindling Immigrants

lomon Schwartz, an immigrant runner ho, according to his own assertion, lives either at 14 whence y treet or 163 Lewis street, was called to account elance y treet or 163 Lewis street, was called to account exterday by the Castle Garden authorities for obtaining noney from immigrants under falle pretences. He took 5 cents spiece from sixty-five Italian immigrants and 8 piece from several others upon the representation that econd introduce them to employers or start them upon heir journey to the West. He was compelled to refund the money.
